PROMETHEUS X represents the visionary journey of Christopher Boots, marking 10 years since the studio founding on 11-11-11. Taking cues from its myriad predecessors reflecting a remarkable period of design, development and experimentation, this reimagining is a departure again. Through the marriage of cast bronze and enduring gravitas of quartz crystal, PROMETHEUS X intertwines the three foundational pillars of the studio - narrative, material exploration and geological majesty. Scored into the cast bronze surface is the narrative of the eponymous god Prometheus, a homage in design and materiality.

Finally to complete the PROMETHEUS X are the signature raw quartz crystals, increased in size to complement the scale of the frame on which they adorn.
