Ainsle Side Table
by Gentner
Design 2011
United States

Ainsle, named after Christopher Gentner's favorite street in Chicago, the table was inspired by the poise of a flower stem, having the taper and balance as the focus of the table. Crafted by hand, it is nickel plated steel has a $\frac{3}{4}$ " thick glass top which finishes it off adding luster and elegance to any interior space.

Polished nickel and glass occasional table.
