An exercise in minimalism and tension; What defines a stool and what is the least amount of material one can use while creating a comfortable resting place? The Ribbon Stools are a combination of the side walls of brushed metal which is hand darkened and a polished top. These subtle material finishes between the sides and top give it an added depth of materiality and refinement. Available in steel and brass.

Darkened stainless steel stool with polished stainless steel seat or darkened brass with polished seat.
