Lovers Lamp
by Daniel Shapiro

Contemporary

United States

Part of Daniel's Squiggle series, the Lovers' Lamp tells the story of two souls separated and overcoming the very thing that has allowed them to exist. Constructed by a single 15 foot clay coil wrapped in a cone formation, each end of the coil is capped by a single light housing that affectionately meets in the middle of the piece. The lamp stands 22.5" tall and 13.5" wide, is coated in antique jade glaze with 24k gold luster covering the inner walls of the light housing creating an inviting glow when illuminated. Currently on view at the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis.
